

To Bulwork ltd.

Dear Sir/Madam,

I write to you with hope that I would answer to the interests of Bulwork.

As I know Bulwork is the first company in Bulgaria for selection of IT specialists. It works from over 10 years, with offices in Bulgaria and abroad. The reputation of the company is very impressive and I will be glad to make my first steps in the IT industry with it. As you will see in my CV, I have been studying in the area of computer systems in the Telerik software academy, which I successfully finished with 147 other students out of over 1400. I also have a certificate for that. There I studied, practiced and created some projects in team and alone. I have a project on C# which is console application and is a game where user moves left and right and tries to avoid crash with some falling objects named FallingRocks. Furthermore on C# using OOP which, shows a machine-building firm organization named 01Firm. Other which was a team project on HTML, CSS, JavaScript and so on named AnimalHotel. It is a game in which user is owner of an animal hotel and must looking for the animals there. Other which is a mobile application works on Android and IOS named 01.GrandSlamTennisCountryRang. It gives information about tennis grand slam champions their countries and so on. All these projects and some other have a github urls and more detail descriptions in my CV. I also studied in the University of Food Technologies in Plovdiv. There I finished a master and bachelor levels of Computer Systems. I have a B2 level of English language from Euroelite School. I also traveled and worked on students brigades in the UK where I practiced the language. I am highly motivated to work and ready to learn. I think that I have the skills and qualities for the position of junior .NET developer.

I hope that I will have the chance to meet with you personally on a more detailed interview, where you will have a chance to evaluate my education and experience.

Yours sincerely,
Alexander Stoyanov
